Areas of expertise and interest

My main academic focus and area of expertise is psychotherapy education and developing psychotherapy training programs for clinicians worldwide. In addition to practicing as a psychodynamic psychiatrist, I am invested in the clinical care of persons with vision loss and blindness and complex medical multimorbidities. I have extensive experience providing psychiatric care to persons with infectious diseases, cancer, cardiovascular illness, and neurological disorders. Suicide prevention is another longstanding area of clinical and academic interest. I have formal training in psychoanalysis and sub-specialization in Consultation-Liaison Psychiatry. I am Editor of the journal Psychodynamic Psychiatry, served as Chair of the Psychotherapy Section of the World Psychiatric Association for two consecutive triennia, and presently serve as President of the World Federation for Psychotherapy.
